

Song for Healing of the Soul '96

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Vn3So6ISgGo&list=OLAK5uy_m1qL1Ap3r-PM5-a_Bx9TLDt1IYLZn5ijl&index=11

Words & Music: Shawn Israel Zevit (Numbers 12:13)

Dedicated to the memory of Rabbi Devorah Bartnoff, z"l

Seen the visions from the garden of Eden
Read the books on true believing
Yet nothing can compare to the touch
Of a real hand

Scaled the heights of the highest mountains
Plumbed the depths of the deepest valleys
Yet nothing can compare to the touch
Of an open heart (2x)

Anah El nah, Refah nah
HalleluYah (repeat)

Talked to many on the need for healing
Been their guide when their soul was reeling
Yet still I am aware of the need to hold my own heart
Oh, how I am aware of the need to hold my own heart

Anah El Nah, Refah nah
HalleluYah (repeat)

then repeat 1st verse

The unusual combination of "please GOD heal" and "praise YAH!", is in testament to way Devorah combined her prayerful talents to joyfully praise and her commitment to healing work. Devorah was able to give her approval in the hospital.

Recorded a few days before her death.